Travel and Tourism funding restored in Senate plan

Concord, NH- The Senate finance Committee restored full funding of $3.7 million in FY 16 and FY 17 to the state's Division of Travel and Tourism budget for marketing purposes.

"One of New Hampshire's most prominent and critical industries is Travel and Tourism. By restoring their funding for marketing and promotion, we support not only the industry as a whole, but each small business that benefits from the tourism market," said Senate Finance Chair Jeanie Forrester (R-Meredith).

"Supporting the funding that they need to promote and market New Hampshire's tourism is important in maintaining a steady influx of visitors to all corners of our state. There are businesses across New Hampshire that relies heavily on a broad market of out of state visitors to be sustainable and we continue to support efforts that grow tourism in the state," continued Forrester.
