Morse concerned by unspent funds for developmental disability services

Concord, NH – Today, the Department of Administrative Services released the preliminary Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) detailing the spending numbers from the FY 15 state budget.

Following the preliminary CAFR being announced, Senate President Chuck Morse (R-Salem) released the following statement.

“The report released today proves what the Senate has maintained all along: the FY 15 budget is balanced, honest and shows that the State is living within its means,” said Senate President Chuck Morse (R-Salem).

“I share concerns that have been raised related to both the $20 million in unspent funds that were intended to serve the Developmental Disabilities waitlist in the Department of Health and Human Services budget as well as the Governor’s spending patterns. It is my hope that individuals who will benefit from these services are receiving the support they need from the state as soon as possible and that the state is doing its part to make sure the resources are being properly administered,” Morse added.
