Morse commends Senate support of increased police training

Concord, NH - The Senate today voted to restore the police standards and training budget for municipalities statewide and also provides funding to properly equip, repair or replace police vehicles.

Senate President Chuck Morse (R-Salem) issued a statement following the vote.

"We believe it is a priority to restore funding for police training programs, which has become of crucial importance given the substance abuse crisis facing our state and the pressing need for law enforcement to be properly trained to deal with drug related issues," said Senate President Chuck Morse (R-Salem).

"We have an obligation to support those who serve as our first responders and by reinvigorating this fund, we can make sure they have ample training and are well-equipped with reliable cruisers so that they can do their best to protect New Hampshire citizens."
