METHODOLOGY:

This bill would enable voters to vote by absentee ballot at a state or local election without any requirement that the voter be absent from the municipality or unable to vote in person for another reason.

The Department of State is unable to estimate the increase in absentee voting attributable to this bill. However, the Department of State assumes that for every 100,000 additional absentee ballots cast, at a cost of $0.25 per ballot, the extra cost would be $25,000 per election. The Department indicates municipalities would realize the bulk of increased postage and handling costs and the labor involved with processing such ballots. Extensive training of local election officials will be required. Complaints of improper voting may also increase, leading to additional investigatory costs. The total cost of implementation is indeterminable.

The New Hampshire Municipal Association states the Secretary of State prepares absentee ballots for state elections and municipal clerks prepare absentee ballots for municipal elections.
Preparation of additional absentee ballots incurs additional costs, which may be offset by reduced expenses for ballot preparation at the polling place. Municipal clerks are responsible for mailing all absentee ballots for both state and local elections, so the additional envelopes and postage costs may be significant but are unknown. Absentee ballots are processed by the clerk before election day and by the moderator on election day, and additional labor will be required, which may involve increased costs. There may be a reduction in the number of election officials needed at the polling place but that is not projected to offset the increased labor needed for the processing of absentee ballots. There is no way to predict the number of additional absentee voters or associated costs, therefore the effect on municipal expenditures cannot be estimated. There should be no impact on municipal revenues.

This bill contains penalties that may have an impact on the New Hampshire judicial and correctional systems. There is no method to determine how many charges would be brought as a result of the changes contained in this bill to determine the fiscal impact on expenditures. However, the entities impacted have provided the potential costs associated with these penalties below.

It should be noted that average case cost estimates for FY 2020 and FY 2021 are based on data that is more than ten years old and does not reflect changes to the courts over that same period of time or the impact these changes may have on processing the various case types. An unspecified misdemeanor can be either class A or class B, with the presumption being a class B misdemeanor.

It should be noted that a person needs to be found indigent and have the potential of being incarcerated to be eligible for indigent defense services. The majority of indigent cases (approximately 85%) are handled by the public defender program, with the remaining cases going to contract attorneys (14%) or assigned counsel (1%).

Many offenses are prosecuted by local and county prosecutors. When the Department of Justice has investigative and prosecutorial responsibility or is involved in an appeal, the Department would likely absorb the cost within its existing budget. If the Department needs to prosecute significantly more cases or handle more appeals, then costs may increase by an indeterminable amount.
