Note to JLCAR regarding submission of a revised FIS. The Notice indicates that the agency was told by federal regulators that the state was noncompliant because childcare workers were receiving reimbursement for services provided prior to the results of criminal background checks. The Fiscal Impact Statement (FIS) as published in the Register says there's no impact to state funds because the childcare providers have been and are responsible for the costs of the background checks. However, the proposal's cost to the providers was not identified in that previously they were able to get reimbursement for services provided prior to having the applicant's results in. Additionally, the rule now requires facility-based programs to have a staff member supervise these individuals at all times while waiting for the criminal records check which may represent an additional cost which wasn't identified. The Department requested a revised FIS from the LBA to address these omissions and submitted it with this conditional approval request. The revised FIS addresses the potential costs to providers not identified in the initial FIS; however, RSA 541-A:5 does not contemplate a "revised" FIS but an amended FIS only when the initial FIS has been impacted by changes to the rules as a result of notice and the hearing. Since that was not the case here, the Department requested a revised FIS rather than an amended FIS. RSA 541-A:5 may need to be amended to allow the issuance of a revised FIS by the LBA.

Fiscal Impact Statement for Department of Health and Human Services rules governing Criminal Records and Central Registry Check for License-Exempt Child Care Providers. [He-C 6920]

1. Comparison of the costs of the proposed rule(s) to the existing rule(s):

When compared to the existing rule, the proposed rule may increase costs to independently-owned businesses by an indeterminable amount.

2. Cite the Federal mandate. Identify the impact on state funds:

45 CFR 98.43 requires states to have requirements, policies, and procedures to require and conduct criminal background checks for child care staff members. This mandate does not impact state funds as child care providers are currently responsible for all fees associated with the background checks.

3. Cost and benefits of the proposed rule(s):

A. To State general or State special funds:

None.

B. To State citizens and political subdivisions:

None.

C. To independently owned businesses:

The Department of Health and Human Services states that the proposed rule may result in an indeterminable cost to facility-based providers. Previously, staff could begin working with children prior to receiving the results of a background check. Under the proposed rule, staff would not be allowed to work alone with children until all or part of their background check has been received, and would need to be supervised by another staff person who had previously been deemed eligible. The rule may therefore result in an indeterminable increase in staff costs.
