Senate President and Speaker of the House Unveil Dedicated Lactation Pod

CONCORD—Today, Senate President Donna Soucy (D-Manchester) and Speaker of the House Steve Shurtleff (D-Penacook) announced the placement of a dedicated nursing pod in the Legislative Office Building. The wheelchair accessible pod was made in the United States and will be accessible using a free app that provides smart security, autonomous access, and control of lighting of airflow for moms with smart phones. Additional access for those without smartphones is available with an access code provided by State House staff.

The Senate President and Speaker of the House released the following statement after the announcement:

“While the State House has had a designated lactation space for almost a year, this dedicated lactation pod will give our employees, elected officials, and visitors a quiet, private, and sanitary place to express milk in the Legislative Office Building. We’re proud to take this next important step by supporting nursing mothers at the State House complex.”
