

I am writing as part of the majority of people who oppose the senate redistricting maps.

As a registered Independent, I appreciate the competition that exists as the maps are currently drawn. I feel the current situation is no guarantee to either party. As an independent, I've voted for people who have lost and those who have won.

Why bother voting if it's rigged? This is no way to promote civic engagement which I am proud of in our state.

It's great to meet and greet candidates, get to ask questions and be involved. Please don't white wash and dilute the process.

Respectfully,

Nancy Sheridan
