Summary – from What is New Hampshire?

“Population gains in New Hampshire are stimulated by two factors. The first is the peripheral sprawl of the Boston metropolitan area... including much of southeastern New Hampshire. The second is the attraction of recreational areas in central New Hampshire. The selective de-concentration of population in the state is consistent with national trends, which show high growth in lower-population-density recreational areas and along the urban edge coupled with population stagnation or loss in remote lower-population-density areas that depend on extractive industries such as forest products, farming, and mining.” (emphasis added)

Race and Ethnicity Changes

From What is New Hampshire?

“Thus, though the relatively small minority population doubled from 61,600 in 2000 to 130,000 in 2017 and accounted for two-thirds of the small increase in the entire population, the impact on the overall makeup of the state was small relative to other states.

Hispanics are the largest minority population in New Hampshire with 50,300 residents, or 3.7 percent of the population. The Asian population is 35,600 (2.7 percent), and African Americans number 18,000 (1.3 percent). Each of these three groups nearly doubled in size between 2000 and 2017. ”

What do we need to know but don't yet?

- Population changes at the local and hyperlocal levels are hard to quantify (especially quickly) due to small numbers.
- What will the long-term impacts of COVID be on demographics?

What plans does NH have to address these issues?
